Works Cited

O'Conner, Anahad. "Things Every Dog Should Know" The New York Times 28 Sept. 2011.

Web. 10 Oct. 2011.

The period always goes inside of the quotation marks.

The Purdue OWL Purdue U Writing Lab, 2010. Web. 10 Oct. 2011.

The Works Cited page should be the last page of a paper written in MLA format that required the use of sources.
The Works Cited should always be on its own page - do not just add it to the bottom of the last page of the essay.
Make sure you are using the most current formatting guidelines (www.owl.english.purdue.edu)
Put your citations in alphabetical order.
Never alphabetize sources using the words: A, An, and The (articles). The Purdue OWL was alphabetized using the "P" in Purdue.
