New Business: INFORMATION ONLY:

1. Information from the NSHE Classified Council Meeting 12.16.2022:
Six out of seven of the NSHE institutions pay their executive board members stipends; CSN does not. GBC is pretty in-line with the other institutions, except for UNLV who is quite a bit more. Our regional union representative is Union Steward, Brian Miller. Cheyenne will send out an email with his contact information for anyone who is interested or has questions.
2. regarding furloughs:
December 2020 May 2021 furloughs will be reimbursed, and payments will roll out on December 23rd, 2022.

POSSIBLE ACTION ITEMS:

1. Discussion and updates on Grant-in-Aid process:
Sonja Sibert has been helping with this process. She recommends that our next step be to reach out to classified staff to get data on who supports the program, who would take advantage of it, and how much it is going to cost.
Cheyenne created a Google Form with questions for people to fill out so we can gather the information. We will get it sent out once everyone is back in January, and will give about a month for people to get their submissions in.
After we get the results back, we will work through them with Sonja so that we can take it to leadership and administration probably in February.
2. Discussion on future fundraising events and timeline for the coming months; Bake-off and Dessert Auction proposed:
We got some really good feedback on the Chili Cookoff. People really seemed to enjoy coming and tasting, but it was difficult to get people to participate since we started recruiting so close to the event. In past years, a couple members of the Classified Council would go around to all the departments on campus to recruit in person. We could also put flyers in the mailboxes.
There does seem to be a little

This will have to be kept in mind for future events.

It was suggested that we do another event similar to the Chili Cookoff with casseroles, dips, cookies, etc., or have another type of event where people can get around campus and meet others such as a cookie walk.
The Dessert Auction is always a big hit. A Google Doc is created with photos and descriptions of each of the items that are up for bidding, and it goes live for only a few hours during the day where people can place their bids. We will set a deadline where people must have their desserts into us by so that we have an hour or two to update the document before it goes live.
Laurie made the motion to make the Dessert Auction our event for March 2023, and Shemayne seconded. The motion passes unanimously.
